Here are just a few examples of what you can do with this robust duo:

1 Generate job posting revenue.

Employers will pay to promote their job postings to a highly qualified pool of candidates (your members and other job seekers in your industry) through your YM Careers online career center. They'll also often pay for additional ways to promote their job openings, such as through job alert emails, which you can set up through YM Careers.

+ TIP

The YM Careers team can help you reach both job seekers and employers to drive traffic and increase job postings on your site. This helps you boost revenue as your career center becomes the career destination for your industry.

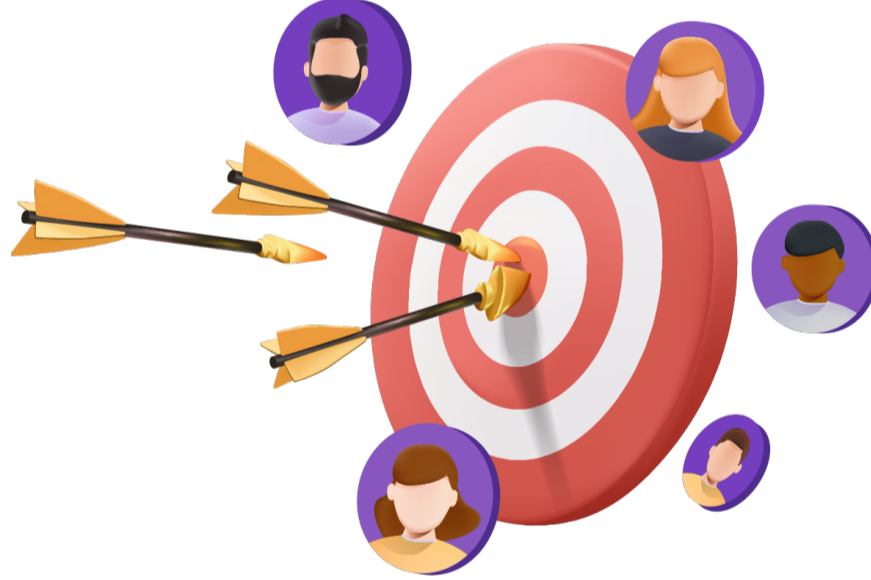

2 Market to more people.

By offering a top career resource for your industry, you'll drive more traffic to your association's website, allowing you to collect information about more prospective members and run marketing campaigns that promote your association's offerings to more people.

3 Create more targeted marketing campaigns.

Activity on your YM Careers-powered job board can be written back to member records in NetForum AMS, giving you a more complete view of your members' interactions with your association, all in one place. You can use these insights to create more personalized content and marketing campaigns for your members.

+ TIP

For a faster alternative to a customized implementation, NetForum offers a streamlined implementation option that uses pre-configured modules. It can have you up and running with NetForum AMS in a flash.

4 Find new revenue-generating opportunities.

Use your YM Careers job board to track traffic, job board sales, job seekers, and more to uncover new revenue-producing ideas. NetForum also offers association-specific data analytics through Nucleus, which can help you identify revenue trends or gaps and find new opportunities to generate revenue.

+ TIP

The YM Careers team can also help you drive revenue beyond your career center, such as by hosting a career fair and building a recruitment guide. Employers will often pay extra to be included in these opportunities.

When your association is expanding, you need high-functionality software to support it.
